Six-year-old Annie returned home from school and said that she had her first family planning lesson at school. Her mother very interested, asks: "Oh...How did it go?" "I nearly died of shame!" she answers. "Sam from down the street says that a stork brings babies. Sally next door said you can buy babies from the orphanage. Pete in my class says you can buy babies at the hospital." Her mother answers laughingly, "But that is no reason to be ashamed." "No... but I can't tell them that we were so poor that you and daddy had to make me at home."

What to know about applying for an extension on your tax return

The Internal Revenue Service reports that the deadline to file a 2023 tax return is Monday, April 15, 2024. The vast majority of taxpayers will have no issue filing by the deadline, but some may not be able to file on time. In such instances, taxpayers can apply for an extension of time to file.

An extension is not necessarily as straightforward as the term suggests. In fact, the IRS urges taxpayers to be aware that applying for an extension does not grant taxpayers an extension of time to pay their taxes. Failure to pay by the April 15 deadline could incur penalties, even for people who have applied for an extension. The IRS urges taxpayers to estimate any owed taxes by the deadline and submit payments for those estimates by April 15.

Extension requests must be submitted by the regular return due date.

Some taxpayers may not have to submit an extension return. The IRS notes that taxpayers in certain disaster areas do not need to submit an extension electronically or on paper. For example, the IRS had already determined by February 2024 that Maine taxpayers impacted by severe storms and flooding qualified for tax relief. Various deadlines, including the April 15 filing deadline for individuals and businesses, were extended to June 17, 2024. Maine taxpayers are urged to contact a tax preparation professional to determine if they are eligible for the later deadline. A list of additional extensions affecting the 2024 filing deadline can be found at <https://www.irs.gov/newsroom/tax-relief-in-disaster-situations>.

Individual taxpayers, regardless of income, can use the IRS Free File (<https://www.irs.gov/filing/free-file-do-your-federal-taxes-for-free>) to request an automatic tax-filing extension. Filing that form gives taxpayers until October 15 to file a return. If October 15 falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, the due date is extended until the next business day. It's important that taxpayers filing for the October 15 extension deadline recognize that they must still estimate their tax liability on the Free File form and pay any estimated taxes owed.

The deadline to file a 2023 tax return is Monday, April 15, 2024. Individuals who need more information about applying for an extension are urged to visit irs.gov.

There's some truth to the popular notion that "laughter is the best medicine." The United States Department of Veterans Affairs notes that laughter has physiological effects on the body that lead to changes in body chemistry and brain function. For example, laughter increases heart and respiratory rates and oxygen consumption over a short period. These changes ultimately move individuals into a state of relaxation. Additional research has found that laughter can lower levels of the stress hormone cortisol, supporting the suggestion that laughter is an effective and even multi-faceted medicine.

Sweet and savory Easter side

Easter Sunday was celebrated on March 31, 2024. Easter is a day spiritual reflection and celebration, and also an opportunity to gather with family members for a delicious dinner.

Traditional main courses for Easter include lamb and ham, so home cooks may want to select side dishes that can work with both. Sweet potatoes are a healthy option that also are tasty and nutritious. While some people associate sweet potatoes with the marshmallow-covered dish common around Thanksgiving, they can be sweet or savory, depending on preference. This recipe for "Savory Sweet Potato Mash" makes a delicious side dish worth enjoying. Try it, courtesy of "Danielle Walker's Eat What You Love" (Ten Speed Press).

Savory Sweet Potato Mash
Serves 4 to 6

- 3 pounds Garnet sweet potatoes, peeled and cubed
- 1/2 cup almond milk
- 1 1/2 teaspoons fine sea salt
- 3/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1/3 cup melted ghee
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh thyme, plus whole leaves for garnish

Place the sweet potatoes in a large saucepan and add enough water to cover by 2 inches. Bring the potatoes to a boil over high heat, then turn the heat to medium-low and simmer until tender, about 18 minutes. Remove the potatoes from the heat, drain the water from the pan, then return the potatoes to the pan.

Add the almond milk, salt and pepper to the potatoes and use a potato masher to mash to your desired consistency. Drizzle with the ghee, sprinkle in the chopped thyme, and stir gently until just combined. Garnish with thyme leaves and serve warm.

Store leftovers in an airtight container in the refrigerator for 3 days. Reheat in a dry skillet over medium-low heat until heated through, stirring frequently, about 5 minutes.

Thank You My Dear Community Members!

I am thankful for the people in our community. When I first moved here nearly a dozen years ago it was a great big landscape change. I came from a large city and this was a bit rural for me but not overly. I had visited much larger countrysides. This is where I first independently published my books. I've met a lot of people here over the years and I have worked with many as they lived out their last days on earth. To say it's sad would probably be an understatement for some. I would argue it's precious. Precious souls that share their own personal experiences to hopefully inspire others to do the same. An honest exchange of information for the betterment of humanity, a valuable lesson that! What's more are the little details that encompass those exchanges, whether a slight smile from a veteran that rarely showed any emotion or the fleeing family members that can't seem to process, and/or are unwilling to deal with the reality of, their loved one being called home. Speaking of home, when I think of home, it's a warm, tangible feeling of love, filled with peace and laughter. The reality that many have yet to experience that presses me to bring to light the need for standins whether parents, mentors, counsellors or coaches. I also know a few of these in this community. People that stand out amidst the crowd and offer encouragement to those that need to be pointed in the right direction. Many of these are, or have been, law enforcement officers. May God bless our law enforcement officers and our community members with an enduring love for people and may we all honor the truth.

Another thing that stands out in this community is the astounding number of events. You can pick up the Citrus County Chronicle, The Home Town Citrus Magazine, the Peddler's Post and you still won't even see all of the events that are happening right here in Citrus County. That is how active our community is. I don't know how many times I would hear the Bay News 9 TV station report "The Strawberry Festival was this weekend and..." and I would be like "Why am I only hearing about these events after they've already passed?" I found the answer was quite simple. The news I was watching wasn't reporting upcoming events. They were reporting past events. If you want upcoming events you have to read those venues that are looking forward and not backward. Kind of like a life lesson there. We should always look forward to a good event we desire to see and not look backward. The past is the past and the future is imminent. Let's make it a bright future where people thrive in good things and share the bread of Sincerity and Truth.

If all that you leave in this world are the words that you have spoken, doesn't it seem good and right to speak good and right things, and write them? One must know that there is a desperate need for some people to know that they are welcomed. Many having borne the sting of rejection throughout their whole lives being disappointed by the lack of leadership in their homes, whether it be by a parent with drug addiction, or by a guardian that betrayed them. The strong have the will to survive and press on to the next day. For the weaker, the strong must inspire them to keep moving forward and to never give up... no matter how hard it is. There is a better place to press toward.

I hope that this message to you this day is clear and concise, being well received by my community members. Positive results are achieved by good productivity. Good productivity begins with us. What we think about and how we speak is very important. If we pause a moment to consider the words that we share and the impact they can have on another, it will be a good step in the right direction.

Speaking of stepping in the right direction, that is an action word, stepping. Use all those hardships that you may have experienced in your life as a stepping stone toward a better tomorrow. One where people are respected and loved, children are protected and breaking records is encouraged. Break the record of repeat when it comes to a dismal past knowing victory is indeed within your reach. Get out of the tiny box that others attempt to mentally keep you in. Keep your thoughts victory focused. Focus on positive answers when tackling problems. Don't be so afraid to fail that you don't try. Because to not try, is that in itself failure? Consider the risks of course, of losing, but also weigh the risks of winning. Generations of people have yet to be shaped on the landscape of life. Let's help them also leave a legacy of victorious and honorable exchanges and interactions with their fellow man. You can make a good difference. Just try!

Speaking of try, that is also an action word. It requires perhaps a new method of approach at times to tackle some of the more difficult tasks. A new way of doing things is a great way to keep your mind engaged in action learning. A prised approach to problem solving will provide a puzzle worth solving.

So remember, share your valuable experiences with those who need encouragement, stay focused on positive events, think and speak good things with sincerity in truth, ever stepping forward in a good and right direction to water the souls of posterity.

Many Warm Regards

Sweeten the day with peaches

Although many desserts make for a sweet ending to delicious meals, there's something so inviting about a moist and tender cobbler to add that yum factor. Cobbler consists of a fruit filling covered in a biscuit batter of sorts. When baked, the ingredients blend together to form a spoonable treat that is tender but with the right amount of bite.

Enjoy this recipe for "Peach Cobbler" courtesy of Taste Better From Scratch and contributor Lauren Allen.

Peach Cobbler- (Servings: 9)

- 5 peaches, peeled, cored and sliced (about 4 cups)
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

For the batter:

- 6 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup milk
- Ground cinnamon

1. Add the sliced peaches, sugar and salt to a saucepan and stir to combine. If using canned peaches, skip steps 1 and 2 and follow the directions starting at step 3.
2. Cook on medium heat for just a few minutes, until the sugar is dissolved and helps to bring out juices from the peaches. Remove from heat and set aside.
3. Preheat oven to 350 F. Slice butter into pieces and add to a 9-by-13-inch baking dish. Place the pan in the oven while it preheats, to allow the butter to melt. Once melted, remove the pan from the oven.
4. In a large bowl, mix together the flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Stir in the milk, just until combined. Pour the mixture into the pan, over the melted butter and smooth it into an even layer.
5. Spoon the peaches and juice (or canned peaches, if using) over the batter. Sprinkle cinnamon generously over the top.
6. Bake at 350 F for about 38 to 40 minutes. Serve warm, with a scoop of ice cream, if desired.

A Naked woman jumps into a taxi and the taxi driver stares at her looking her from top to bottom. The woman is offended and asks the taxi driver, "what's the matter, haven't you ever seen a naked woman before?" The Taxi driver responds, "Oh, it's not the fact that you are naked that bothers me." The lady asks, "why are you looking at me that way?" The taxi driver says, "I am just looking at you wondering where the heck you are keeping the money to pay me for this ride."

A brief history of Earth Day

Earth Day is celebrated each April and draws attention to a range of issues affecting the environment. Earth Day aims to raise awareness in the hope of inspiring change. Earth Day is observed on April 22. According to National Geographic, the first Earth Day was celebrated in 1970. Wisconsin senator Gaylord Nelson was inspired to begin a national celebration uniting the environmental movement after witnessing environmental activism in the 1960s. With the help of Denis Hayes, a graduate student at Harvard University, Nelson organized the first Earth Day. Twenty million people participated in events across the United States and strengthened support for environmental legislation like the Clean Air Act and the Endangered Species Act. Earth Day was expanded to a global initiative in 1990 under guidance from Hayes. Nearly 200 million participants in more than 140 countries now join together in the name of protecting the planet. Awareness continues to be raised each year regarding renewable energy and climate change. One of the hallmarks of Earth Day celebrations is the planting of trees. Researchers estimate roughly 15 billion trees are cut down each year across the globe. By planting a tree every Earth Day, people can make a difference. Trees absorb carbon dioxide and release oxygen and bolster ecosystems for wildlife. Shade trees can reduce reliance on fans and air conditioning systems. The main message of Earth Day 2024 is the need to commit to ending reliance on plastics, says EarthDay.org. The goal is a 60 percent reduction in the production of all plastics by 2040. Plastics are bad for the environment a growing body of research indicates they have an adverse effect on the major systems of the body, including immune, respiratory, digestive, and hormonal systems. Everyone can do their part to promote the ideals behind Earth Day. For 54 years, millions of people have been advocating for change to benefit the planet and human and animal health, and that fight is ongoing.

What pet owners should know about heartworm

Pets owners go to great lengths to ensure their animal companions are happy and healthy. Nutritious diets and routine visits to a veterinarian are two ways to keep pets healthy. Pet owners also can educate themselves about various conditions that can adversely affect their pets' health, including heartworm.

What is heartworm?

The American Heartworm Society notes heartworm is a potentially fatal disease caused by foot-long worms that can live in the heart, lungs and associated blood vessels of affected pets. A pet affected by heartworm can develop severe lung disease, heart failure and organ damage.

Are all pets vulnerable to heartworm?

The American Veterinary Medical Association reports that heartworm primarily infects dogs, cats and ferrets. However, wild animals like foxes and wolves also can be infected, as can animals like raccoons and opossums that many people see in their backyards and local parks. Humans also have been infected with heartworm, though the AVMA notes such instances are rare.

Heartworm and dogs

The AHS notes dogs are a natural host for heartworms. Heartworms that live inside a dog can mature into adults and even mate and produce offspring while inside the dog. Numbers increase if the dog is not treated for heartworm. Even if a dog is treated, the effects of heartworm infection can linger after the worms are gone, contributing to lasting damage to the heart, lungs and arteries.

Symptoms of heartworm infection in dogs may not manifest early on. The AHS notes that it's more likely symptoms will develop the longer the infection persists. Such symptoms may include:

- ~ A mild, persistent cough
- ~ Reluctance to exercise
- ~ Fatigue after moderate activity
- ~ Decreased appetite
- ~ Weight loss

According to the AHM, active dogs, dogs with heavy heartworm infections or those with additional health problems frequently exhibit pronounced clinical signs.

Heartworm and cats

The AVMA notes diagnosis of heartworm in cats is more difficult than it is with dogs. Unlike dogs, cats are not natural hosts for heartworms, and the AHS reports most worms in cats do not make it to the adult stage. In fact, many cats with heartworm have no adult worms. That contributes to the difficulty of diagnosis, and it does not protect cats against harmful side effects of heartworm, including a condition known as heartworm associated respiratory disease (HARD).

The AHS notes that signs of heartworm in cats can be subtle or very dramatic. Sadly, the AHS also reports that the first sign of heartworm in some cases is the sudden collapse or sudden death of the cat. If cats exhibit symptoms, those signs may include:

- ~ Coughing
- ~ Attacks that mimic an asthma attack
- ~ Periodic vomiting
- ~ Lack of appetite
- ~ Weight loss
- ~ Difficulty walking
- ~ Fainting or seizures
- ~ Fluid accumulation in the abdomen

Heartworm poses a potentially serious threat to cats and dogs. Pet owners are urged to speak with their veterinarians about heartworm prevention and what to do if a pet becomes infected.
